Bishop Kelley Crest

"All the world's a stage,
And all the men and women merely players:
They have their exits and entrances;
And one man in his time plays many parts."
William Shakespeare, As You Like It

We, the men and women of the Kelley community, have made our entrances and some will soon be exiting. All of us have played our own special parts in the story of 1987. At Bishop Kelley High School, the stage has been set; the cast and crew assembled. As you open the pages of the 1987 Crest, you begin an epic journey filled with high drama, rollicking comedy, touching romance, and action-packed adventure. This Crest is just the ticket for a stroll through the Comet all-star hall of fame. We journalists invite you to escape, to lose yourself in the wonderful world of the movies — Kelley style. Lights . . . camera . . . action!

CLASSES

"Top Gun"

Whether in the classroom or the football stadium, Comet spirit begins with the students. From the stereotype of the naive freshman to the ultra-involved senior, student involvement is synonymous with Bishop Kelley High School. Seniors set the stage for the whole school year. As Top Guns they were challenged to be the "best of the best," and they succeeded! They then readied themselves to face the "Danger Zone" of life after high school. As the juniors moved into the ranks of upperclassmen, these individualists took on an insurgent attitude. These Rebels Without a Cause disregarded all classroom rules and dress code regulations. While often revolutionary, their energetic involvement bodes well for the seniors of 1988. For the sophomores, 1987 proved to be a big year, the year of Sixteen Candles. Sophomores began to grow up and take responsibility for their actions and their cars. The freshmen, who are they? They are a class not to be taken lightly and not to be labeled just as "freshmen." The Outsiders are the beginning of a new Comet generation.

JUNIORS KRISTEN FLYNN and Mike Back bee-bop the night away.

FRESHMEN FROLIC AT their first fiesta.

USING HIS BIBLICAL knowledge, Freshman David Freet proves to Brother David that Saint Apollinaris never existed.

SENIORS WENDY POOLE and Jenny Shubeck model the latest fashion in eyewear.

FACULTY

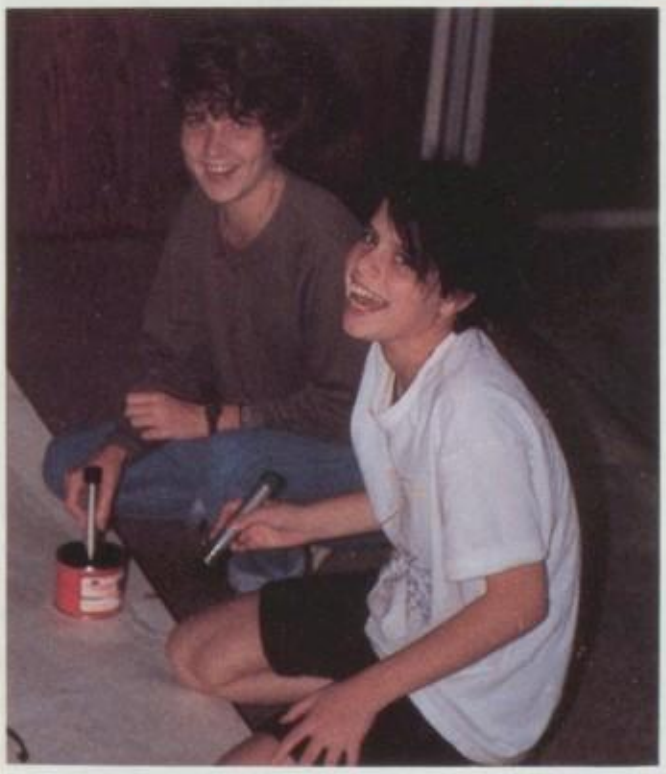
Teachers

We see them behind their desks and patrolling the halls; they are the Bishop Kelley faculty. This year, thirteen new faculty members have joined the ranks of the Absent-Minded Professors and Ruthless People, they challenge us to complete thirty hours of tedious homework in a twenty-four hours period; however, the renown academic excellence of Bishop Kelley students demonstrates that our Teachers are Making the Grade.

MR. ARENSON SAYS, "The Chemistry lab is that way!"

FATHER TOM APPLIES peer pressure to Mr. Molak.

CLUBS



STEPHANIE SMITH LAUGHS at the thought of the football team "blistering" anyone.

CHRISTEN TRAMONTANA AND Cathy Gawey master the art of Pep Club sign painting.

Just as the Breakfast Club united the princess, the jock, the criminal and the basket-case, this year, the Comet Club Network unified the Bishop Kelley community. With a variety of organizations, ranging from Student Council and Pep Club to Computer Club and Chess Club, Kelley provided an opportunity for all students to get involved and contribute their talents to the school.

"WILL WE GET a red carnation if we smile at the camera?" ask Senior cheerleaders Crissy Causey, Becky Funk, and Janna Journeycake.

STUDENT LIFE

Animal House

Escape. At times, everyone feels the need to run away from the boring routine of everyday life and the constant pressures of society. At Bishop Kelley, students fled from academic and organizational responsibilities, seeking a carefree world of leisure. The outsider would be surprised to find that Kelleyites do not find solace in an evening by the fire with a good book. Rather, Bishop Kelley Comets stampede to the scenes of many exciting school-sponsored events. Often times, these sites can take on the ferocious appearance of an Animal House.

TONY JANNOTTA GIVES his impression of Pee Wee Herman at the 1986 Junior/Senior Luau.

KELLEYITES LINE UP for swimming lessons from instructor John Merrill.

"COULDN'T WE HAVE done this in a phone booth?"

SENIORS BECKY FUNK, Lesley Smith, and Mary Illig "Wish they all could be California girls."

SPORTS

All the Right Moves

The Sports year was one of accomplishment, growth, and victory. The Bad News Bears Comet softball team made a great comeback, finishing with a winning 11-10 record. Chariots of Fire was the theme for the cross-country teams as the girls won their second consecutive State championship, and the boys had a strong fourth place finish. The football team, though young and inexperienced, finished the season showing great potential for next year. Swimming began with a shaky start, but with the acquisition of a new coach, completed the season with a Splash. The Comet basketball team's scoring ability outshined even Jumpin' Jack Flash. Wrestlers were motivated with the spirit of Vision Quest as they sought to recapture the State title. Spring found Kelleyites pursuing tennis, golf, soccer, baseball, and track. Each team, through hard work, determination, and unyielding spirit, conveyed to the community that they had All the Right Moves.

COMET GANG TACKLES a McGuiness player.

DETERMINATION AND AWESOME leggs drive Senior Paul Gomez to victory.

SITTING ON THE bench is an activity seniors Julie Foster and Melissa Hughes do only at picture time.

Only a Handful Are Chosen to Be:

TOP GUN SENIORS

Comes the Dawn

After a while you learn the subtle difference
Between holding a hand and chaining a soul,
And you learn that love doesn't mean security,
And you begin to learn that kisses aren't contracts
And presents aren't promises
And you begin to accept your defeats
With the grace of a woman, not the grief of a child,
And you learn to build all your roads
On today because tomorrow's ground
Is too uncertain. And futures have
A way of falling down in mid-flight,
After a while you learn that even sunshine burns if you get too much.
So you plant your own garden and you decorate your own soul, instead of waiting
For someone to bring you flowers.
And you learn that you really can endure . . .
That you really are strong,
And you really do have worth
And you learn and learn
With every goodbye you learn.

Seniors Are Spastic!!

As We Walk Along the Path of Life

We encounter many different people; however, some remain only as mere acquaintances while others leave a permanent impression."

— Mike Buckendorf, '86

When I first met Matthew Chitwood in Western Civilization at the beginning of our freshman year, I knew right away that he had to be a person with a great deal of character. It did not take long for us to become great friends due to our common warped sense of humor. Not only did he have this tremendous sense of humor, but he also was extremely intelligent. On the weekends, he implemented this intelligence to come up with potential entertainment ideas. It always seemed as if he were planning some sort of devious activity; and his conspicious grin was often positive evidence. People who knew him well can confirm that. Even when things were not going well for him, his attitude was always optimistic.

The Kelley community, especially his group of close friends, will never forget the contribution he made to us all.

— Will Barnes, '87

Chris with his first love, the computer.

Chris Young was a genuine person, and all who knew him liked him. He had a sense of humor and an inquisitive mind that kept everyone around him on their toes. Chris was an intellectual person and wrote several humorous short stories for his English classes. He was in several honors courses and was a grade ahead in math and science. Chris was involved in karate and usually attended classes daily during the summer. He also enjoyed painting lead miniatures. His first love, however, was his computer. He spent many hours with his computer, writing programs and was successful in getting one published. He liked to see what he could get that machine to do. Sometimes it was humorous, sometimes it was serious. He made the computer into more than a machine. Chris was good at most things he attempted, but he was best at being a friend.

REBELS WITHOUT A CAUSE

JUNIORS

They have similar backgrounds and were raised on solid American values. But somehow, somewhere along the line, something went wrong. Instead of embracing conventional standards, instead of conforming to society's expectations of them, they took a different route.

They are Bishop Kelley's junior class, and what a mass of contradictions they are! This class has been described as friendly and snobby, as conservative and wild, as advanced and immature. But the labels tell only half the story. Some of Kelley's brightest students can be found in the class of '88, but, at the same time, their literary merit is displayed on walls all over Tulsa. Their ''wild'' reputation is not, however, without its advantages. The juniors have a certain ''joie de viure'' — a love of life that entices them to take the extra step, go beyond what is considered normal and take the necessary risks to enjoy the best years of their lives.

The class of '88 clearly has a lot of potential for success. Their individuality and drive make it most certain that they will be a unique senior class — one Kelley will not soon forget. Different and full of life, they are truly Rebels Without a Cause — the junior class.

SOPHOMORES

Sophomore year is the grade that marks the famous birthday, "Sweet 16." Also, it is a year to grow and discover the special personality lurking behind the "in" clothes and "cool" hair-dos. During this year, students are no longer the youngest of the school and are treated accordingly. Notes are confiscated and posted by ruthless teachers for all the read, while tests of previous years circulate the BSCS classes, and calculators become cheat sheets.

Bishop Kelley offers more to the class of '89 because it is always improving. This class has had the good fortune to have a drama and speech club along with a new Latin class to enrich their education. Also, when Brother Larry returns next year, their class will be among the first that will have the opportunity to benefit from his experiences. No longer is Kelley just "school" to these students, now it has taken on a personality that reflects the sophomore class.

But, despite all of the drudgery of no longer being in the freshman limelight, yet still not upperclassmen, sophomores are experiencing the "special" year. Dad lends his son the car for the big date Friday night, and there is no more having to wait on either parent for a ride home after the dances. Teachers begin to treat sophomores like humans, while the whole class rejoices in this being the last year for gym class.

Overall, it is a year of change that each teen experiences in a special way as he/she prepares for the upperclassmen years.

J. B. JARBOE learns that vacuuming can be a pain in the back and is in want of his Doan's.

THOMAS HARRIS AUDITIONS for "9to5."

THE CROWD IS ignorant to Ashley Eakin's cries for help, "I've lost my eye! I've lost my eye!"

Teen Creed

Don't let your parents down,
They brought you up.
Be humble enough to obey,
You may give orders someday.
Choose companions with care,
You become what they are.
Guard your thoughts,
What you think, you are.
Choose only a date,
Who would make a good mate.
Be master of your habits,
or they will master you.
Don't be a show off when you drive,
Drive with safety and arrive.
Don't let the crowd pressure you,
Stand for something or you'll fall for anything.

"A HEROIC STORY OF YOUTH AND BELONGING"

The Outsiders

Who are they?

They have been pushed aside, trampled on, mocked and disregarded. The simple word "VICTORY" instills fear into their hearts at a pep rally. One can find them lurking in the cafeteria, under one's feet, or waiting at the top of the "U" for the welcome sight of the family wagon. Some meekly accept the traditional fate, while others rebel against it by sneaking to their lockers between classes, and by refusing to worship their superiors, the seniors.

A closer look at this group shows that they will not be taken lightly. Rejected by a society they were forced to join, their individuality and loyalty to one another indicates they are beginning to prove their value to the Kelley community and to make themselves worthy of the name "Comet." It is clear that the class of 1990 has triumphed through the first terrifying year to gain enough confidence to scorn next year's freshmen. Meanwhile, theirs is a heroic struggle to belong. They are the Outsiders — the freshman class.

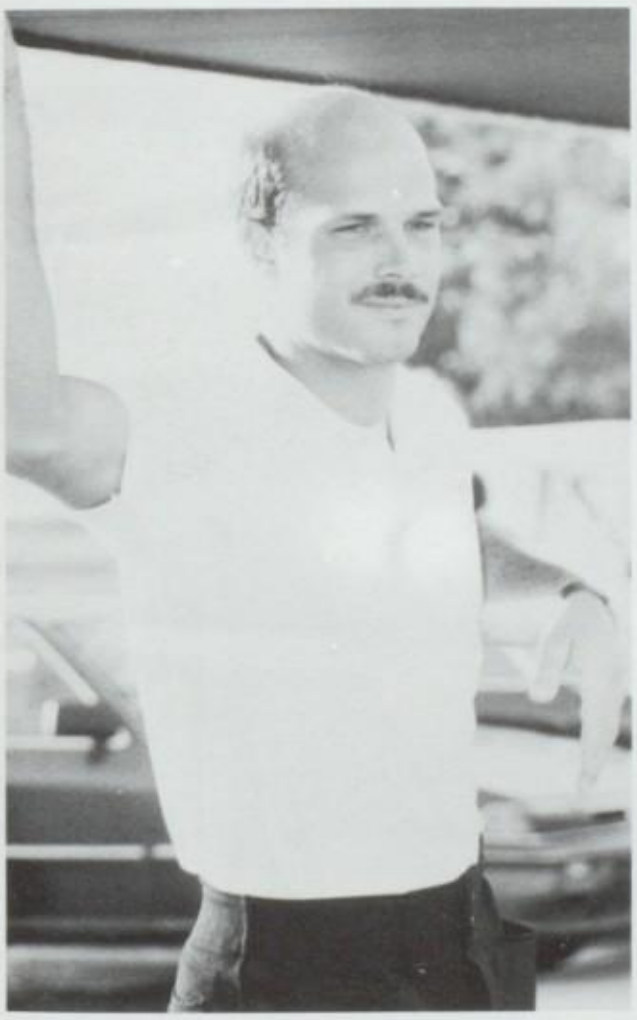
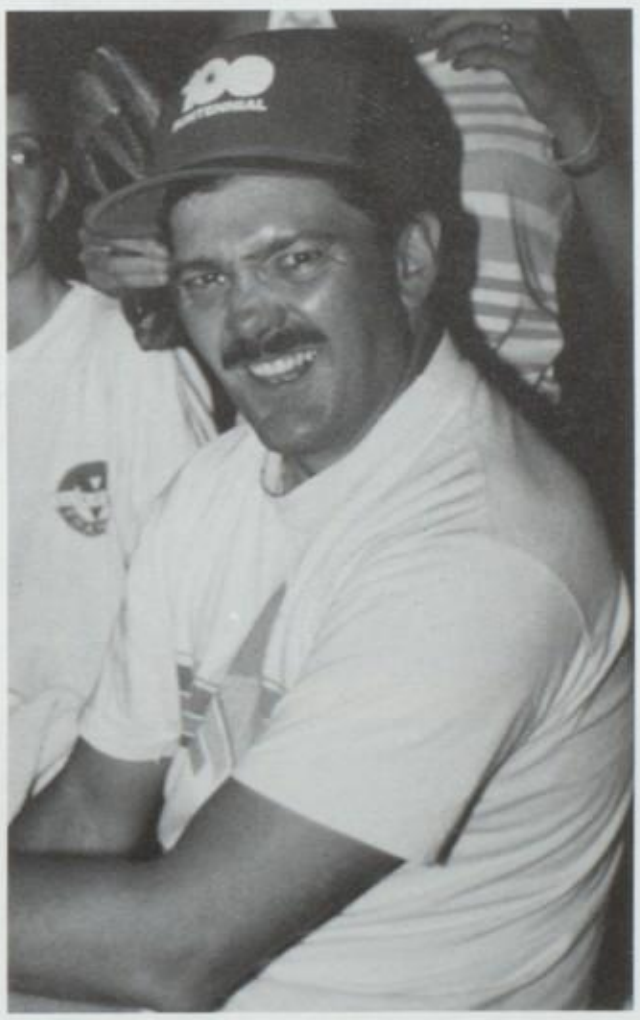
TEACHERS

FACULTY





In any school the spirit of the students and its quality of education is dependent upon the administration. At Kelley, the balance of power is distributed among exceptional individuals. These strong-willed men have spent their careers being more than just administrators.

They have become involved in school activities. Athletics plays an important part in their lives, through both coaching and cheering the teams. Mr. Prassa has coached football for twelve years. Mr. Hamilton and Mr. Molak both coach basketball. Mr. Oberste's sponsorship of the Student Council has also helped to bring the community together.

Under the direction of Brother Larry, the Bishop Kelley team runs smoothly. His concern for the school has given it a sense of security. The strength of the Kelley administration makes the faculty proud to say, "I'm a teacher."

Seniors Crown Four Dedicatees
Arenson, Ballenger, Oberste, and Yadon Honored

Once upon a time, in BK Land, there lived an unhappy kingdom. The people were sad because they did not have the spirit and unity that all the other kingdoms had. Well, nine years ago, along came the Duke of Students, Gary Oberste. With his ingenious slogans and his ability to work with people, he has brought peace and unity to the Council. For three years the loyal subjects of the kingdom had believed themselves happy with the inspirational words on theology and marriage spoken by the Duke. Then the beautiful princess who wore pretty clothes moved to the land. As Princess Donna Yadon inspired the students to learn the history of our world (Great Britain and U.S. included), she also persuaded them to understand the language they spoke. With her help, the unified council could communicate intellectually with the neighboring kingdoms.

The next year, two new knights came to town to help the people understand the world around them. The dashing Tom Ballenger taught the people about history of a far off land called Russia. He also enlightened the town to the psychology of the community as one body — one society. The town was thankful for the information, but they also appreciated his efforts to fight the enemy lands. He assisted in leading the teams to victories on the football field and the track field.

The towering Brian Arenson provided the community with his undying wisdom about the processes of the environment. His ability to communicate his information about chemistry and anatomy to the semi-interested subjects by the use of his special sense of humor gave the people the chance to understand and maintain knowledge. He has also spent several years building up the revels of the golfers.

Each of these royal constituents has contributed to the embodiment of the community spirit in BK Land. Because they have each resided in BK Land for at least five years and because they provide the kingdom with wisdom and care, the town elders agreed that they represented the true spirit of Bishop Kelley.

MR. BALLENGER SURVEYS his students: "Should I or should I not shave my beard?"

Teachers Are Making the Grade

The job of a teacher is to educate students and evaluate their progress. This task, however, is not easy; teachers face the gripes of the many who believe that they were unjustly given a D instead of an A. To make the grades for hundreds of individuals is difficult.

Students enjoy class with teachers who communicate well and who really care about their jobs. They learn best when teachers add surprises to the lesson plan.

Brother Bernardine's nostalgia and his unorthodox methods of teaching stun the students when they realize that they have actually learned math. Mrs. Vilela's and Mrs. Yadon's sarcastic wits keep the class laughing as they learn of the tragedy of Shakespeare and the inappropriateness of dangling modifiers.

The faculty uses many methods in order to make learning fun. Students agree that Bishop Kelley teachers also deserve a grade: an A.

"SANTA CLAUS, THANK you. A paper bag — just what I wanted!" exclaims Karen Karey.

MEDITATIVELY, MR. McELWAINE manages to meticulously manipulate motley math materials.

"YOU'RE LATE. I can't be bribed with potted plants," says Mrs. Desruisseau.

Ruthless People:
They Push to Excellence

Teachers often have the mistaken idea that students have thirty hours in one day and eight days in a week. Believing this, they load the student down with homework and forget that the individual has five other classes which require the same amount of energy. Ruthlessly, they challenge each other to create the "impossible test" — the one that not even the genius can complete in the allotted fifty-five minutes.

Teachers do often have these mistaken ideas, but the Kelley faculty is different. They get involved and communicate with the students. This year thirteen new faculty members joined the staff, but they had no trouble adjusting to the school's methods. Our teachers work as a team to educate the students. They understand that the school was built for the students. They are for here them.

"DOUBLE, DOUBLE TOIL and trouble," recite Ms. Beck and Mrs. Yadon.

The Absent-minded Professor Survives

Professor: the word conjures the picture of the serious individual who has total control over life and the classroom. However, Bishop Kelley professors are real people who are happy, sad, funny, angry. These people make mistakes and have idiosyncracies that make them as human as the students.

Every student can recall some incident when he realized that his teacher was not perfect. The physics students now know to beware of Sister Ann Bourke's tennis balls. Their word of advice to her future students is "Duck!" Mrs. Patricia Anderson's forensic club appreciates her sense of humor in the face of defeat at a speech tournament. They will not forget her infamous napkin trick.

Mrs. Donna Yadon's junior British Literature class still remembers her lapse into "parole drift" and her embarrassment over her inability to dress properly.

Ms. Beck lives each day in frustration. She is forever baffled by Brother Bernardine's mathematical language, and she is constantly at odds with the school's computers.

Of course, we can not overlook the difficulties of an absent-minded computer that made the entire staff a nervous wreck, causing the first day of school to be three days late. Mr. Molak's adjustment to the computer's "screw-ups" should be commended.

To cope with crazy schedules and cluttered desks, teachers are sometimes a bit eccentric. This craziness enables the students to understand their teachers and see them as people — however absent-minded they may be.

from Animal House

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

When most students think of Animal House, they think of cutting loose, being wild, and acting crazy. Also, what comes to mind are the famous scenes from the movie. The Delta fraternity house represents freedom and good times for many people.

Oftentimes, students grow weary of routines — studies, sports practices, club meetings, and part-time jobs. They become restless in their needs for excitement, for surprise, for escape. By Thursday and Friday, one can hear the familiar question in the hall: "What are we gonna do?" And the answer is: "Road trip!" The average teenager — a high school student by day — becomes a party animal by night. The wild savages can be seen on a Friday or Saturday night cruising by Zink Park or Quik Trip, dancing at Rumors to release the tension built up during the week, or just getting together with a few friends for a relaxing dinner and a movie.

At the beginning of the school year, many students, still thirsty for the satisfaction of the cool water on their skins, reverted to the aquatic state as they plunged into the waves at the Big Splash Party. They also hungered for the excitement of the exotic tropics as they ran wild at the Aloha Dance and bathed in colorful streams of light from tiki torches at the Junior-Senior Luau. At the Senior Parties, cries of "Let's dance!" were heard.

As the cold settled across the town, these animals had to go behind doors to escape from the chilly winter nights. Loud music and uninhibited movement seemed to cause an explosion of excitement and an emission of fears and frustration. Homecoming dances, Prom, and Graduation make students "wanna shout," and as the animals from ΔBK say, "It's not over until we decide it is!"

"YOU KNOW WHAT we gotta do? — TOGA!" says Mike McCoy.

BELL'S AND BIG SPLASH

The third annual Big Splash party marked the beginning of the '86-'87 school year. Members of each class enjoyed dancing the limbo, swimming in the wave pool, and playing night volleyball. At the end, as students gathered their wet towels and sand-filled shoes, they knew the new year would be fantastic.

After the Student Council kicked off the year with Big Splash, many Kelleyites enjoyed a day at Bell's Amusement Park early in September. The school had won a free day at the park from a local radio station. Although the weather turned chilly, it did not hamper the turn out. All day one could see Comets on the Zingo, Himalaya and the most popular ride, the Merry-go-round. These two events got the year off to a great start.

Aloha, BK

After the first week of school, exhausted students flocked to the Student Council sponsored Aloha Dance to rid themselves of mounting tension. Hawaiian torches, leis, and many colorful, flowered shirts added an exciting, tropical touch to the usually drab, academic atmosphere.

For the first time at a school function, both a band, Bishop Kelley's own Derelicts, and a disc jockey provided the music. As students danced the hula at the Kelley beach to the traditional Beach Boys' tunes and to more modern songs and breathed in the refreshing air of the fading summer, they became rejuvenated. The wonderful showing at this event helped to kick off a fantastic '86-'87 school year.

ALOHA DANCE

JR AND SR KNOW LUAU

Juniors and seniors adorned themselves in grass skirts and colored leis before enjoying the Hawaiian atmosphere at Kristen Stamile's house on Saturday, September 20. Members of the Anchor and Key Clubs worked for weeks with the decoration and refreshment committees. On that afternoon, juniors and seniors transformed Kristen's backyard into a tropical paradise.

Kelleyites danced the hula to the sounds of the Derelicts. In keeping with tradition, many Comets "enjoyed" a moonlight swim. Dozens of Comets stayed awake into the wee hours of the night removing soggy streamers and leis from the patio. As the few stragglers left the traces of Waikiki behind, they knew that the 1986 Jr./Sr. Luau had been a great success.

TOGA

Toga! Toga! Toga! The class of 1987 had been waiting all week for their first senior party. And on Saturday October 11, Justin Gannon's house was invaded by many Kellyites draped in their best sheets. Melissa Hughes was wrapped in her favorite sheet printed with brightly colored lifesavers. Stan Farrell and Heidi Osweiller were draped with matching purple tie-dyed togas.

"It was an excellent way to start the year. The seniors' spirit and attendance were great," said Father Tom, the senior class sponsor. Most of the seniors sported their togas inspite of the chilly weather. And they were "dancing in their sheets" all night long.

SENIORS GET TOGETHER

Celebrate the Season

Womp-bah-ba-lou-bomp, ah womp-bamb-boom! Seniors went back in time to the fifties for their third school-sponsored party. The girls adorned their wardrobes with poodle skirts, bobby socks, saddle oxfords, and, of course, chains worn around their necks with their daddy's class rings on them. The boys wore their jeans rolled up and t-shirts with packs of cigarettes buried in the sleeves; they also greased back their hair to give it the duck-tail look. David Kelly's family hosted this festive event. The seniors danced to fifties music while "twistin' the night away!"

For their next big bash on December 19, the seniors invaded the Shofner home for an evening of dancing and holiday fare. As students played video games, admired the beautiful ornaments and decorations, and mingled. Mr. Shofner served vanilla coke at his old-fashioned soda fountain, and Santa Claus, alias senior Ben Martin, listened to interesting Christmas wishes. The get-together brought to light the spirit, enthusiasm, and camaraderie of the senior class. After all, that is what Christmas is all about.

PIZZA -N- PARTY

The senior class once again exhibited its incredible spirit at the last two Senior Parties of the year. In March, upperclassmen took Crystal's Pizza by storm as they laughed together, ate together, and challenged each other in the arcade. Leslie Graham's home was the scene for the last senior get-together in April. Most students road-tripped to Broken Arrow to feast, congregate, and dance the night away. An appropriate theme for each of these events could have been "Togetherness;" for as the seniors celebrated, they learned more about their fellow classmates and friends and made memories which set the class of 1987 apart from other graduating classes.

FALL HOMECOMING

Spirit Soars at Homecoming Formal

Spirit was high for the Homecoming football game against Edison. A caravan of Kelley supporters drove from Kelley to the Cascia field. Despite the Eagles' scoring seconds before the half and the court's having to wade through the mud, the Comet spirits were not dampered for the coronation. Melissa Hughes graciously accepted the award of Maid of Honor while the senior Class deservingly crowned Kristen Stamile Homecoming Queen.

The senior attendants were Teresa Erker and Christen Tramontana. The junior class elected Katie Cronin and Laurie Zigrang as their attendants, and the sophomore attendants were Frannie Biolchini and Carrie Bolton. The team played a great game, yet the final score was 3 to 7.

The Homecoming Dance was held at the Westin Hotel. High-fashion was the order of the evening. Lively Kelley dancers kept the dance floor shaking all night while other couples opted for a romantic horse-drawn buggy ride through the streets of downtown Tulsa.

WINTER HOMECOMING

"Love Me Tender," the theme of the 1987 Winter Homecoming festivities, became the spoken phrase in January and February. But one senior girl will always remember that lyrical phrase — Becky Funk.

At the January 27th wrestling match, Becky walked across the grappler's mat to accept her crown and robe. As her escort Jerry Snow placed the crown upon Becky's glowing head, the crowd cheered on for the traditional kiss.

Bridgitt Brazear was elected to the place of Maid of Honor. Her contribution to the Homecoming events went beyond representing the senior class; she designed the T-shirts which embossed the theme.

The other senior attendants were Student Council member Leslie Graham, school-spirited Crissy Causey, and active Mary Jo Murray.

The juniors elected Kay Cobb and Ginger Lewis. The sophomore attendants were Kristi Vitali and Stacy Favel.

The court made two more appearances, at the basketball game and the Homebuilders Hall, the site of the dance. At the dance, which was not as difficult to find as everyone presumed, the spirit of the festivities was unleashed. Everyone danced or hopped around. Although the hall grew quite hot, many people remained dancing until the very end. The Winter Homecoming dance was quite a success and the theme "Love Me Tender" will always hold a special meaning for the 1987 court.

BROTHER B. CELEBRATES 50

PORTRAIT OF BROTHER Bernardine as drawn by Bridgitt Brazear.

"BROTHER BERNARDINE, COME on down!!!"

"MY DEAR BROTHER Bernardine takes this plague" . . . says Bishop Beltran.

Bro. Reaches Milestone

Brother Bernardine began teaching during WWII. During his career he has taught at five Christian Brother schools. Kelley has been the only co-educational school at which he has taught.

On November 22, he was honored for his 50 years of service to the Christian Brothers and 26 years of dedication to the Bishop Kelley at a Mass and reception held in his honor. He was presented with a plaque and a trip to the Holy Land in spring by the diocese.

At the special Thanksgiving celebration at school, each class presented him with a token of gratitude for his years of teaching at Kelley. The freshmen gave him a miniature bus; the sophomores gave him Bishop Kelley boxers. A book of quotes was given by the juniors, and the seniors presented him with a portrait by Bridgitt Brazear.

Brother B. will always be remembered as a major part of the Bishop Kelley community.

UPTOWN SATURDAY NIGHT

Glistening silver confetti and crisp, new top hats, the glorious perfume of fresh gardenia blossoms, a myriad of treasures given to Bishop Kelley by businesses and proud patrons — this year's auction was held on March 7th at the exclusive Excelsior Hotel. Dedicated parents and faculty members spent months obtaining donations, varnishing antiques, and putting together the program and catalogues. Students also participated in this annual event by sorting out catalogues, organizing the ballroom for the auction, working on the Big Board, and collecting bids on the exciting eve of the event. Thanks to the hard work and enthusiasm of Chairpersons John and Linda Rucker, and various members of the Kelley community, "Uptown Satuday Night" rose straight to the top.

YOU CAN'T TAKE

"Lights! Camera! Action!" were the words murmured by stage manager Claire Graham at the National Forensic League's presentation of Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman's You Can't Take It With You. Despite the occasional power outages, the cast of eighteen students delivered an outstanding performance.

The message of the play was exemplified best by senior Jason McClelland's teaching the value of enjoying life instead of desiring millions of dollars. In addition to Jason's (Grandpa's) performance, Lynn Lipinski, who played Penelope Sycamore, glistened as a struggling artist while dealing with her daughter Alice, played by Amy Raper, as she fell in love with Tony Kirby, a bank vice-president, played by sophomore Tim McGinnis.

Portraying a hopeless dance students named Essie Carmichael, senior Julie Nash added "tummy tickling" comedy by flitting about the stage. Essie's Russian instructor, Madame Kolenkov, played by junior Stacie Hankins, struggled with teaching her and with other characters, namely Mr. Kirby, the father of Tony Kirby. Doug Farry, who played Mr. Kirby, was a victim of Madame Kolenkov's wrestling tactics while his wife, played by junior Beth Keveney, gasped surprisingly.

A visit from an IRS agent provided a bit of drama as the agent placed the whole Sycamore family and Kirby family in jail because Ed, played by freshman Matt Boethin, was caught for hiding communist messages in Essie's boxes of Love Dreams candy.

The audience enjoyed the tremendously funny acting of Chris Smith and Kim Bateman, who played a romantic couple of Donald and Rheba, who always seemed to keep the Sycamore family running smoothly.

Mr. DePinna, played by Rodney Brown, along with Mr. Sycamore, played by Jason Watts, added to the professionalism of the play.

At the end of the performance, director Patti Anderson and the rest of the cast and stage crew were lift with warm handclaps from an appreciative audience.

MORP AND BEACH BLANKET BASH

On the first weekend after Spring Break, panicked juniors and seniors headed to the "Beach Blanket Bash," a party sponsored by the Anchor and Key Clubs, in order to find potential Prom dates. Students danced to the music of Headwind in the abnormally low temperatures. The Anchor Club President, Christen Tramontana commented, "We had to dance to keep warm! Some of us didn't have cold feet." Upperclassmen relived vacations, while others had cake fights and went wild under the pastel streamers and balloons.

On the weekend following the "Bash," the junior class held the first annual MORP dance in order to raise funds for the Prom, an event rumored to be an out-of-reach fantasty due to the lack of finances. MORP, Prom spelled backwards, was a chance for the lady Comets to seek out unsuspecting males as dates for MORP and possibly Prom. The Essentials provided music for the dancing crowd, mostly made up of freshmen and sophomores. The money from ticket sales went directly into the Emergency Prom Fund.

"IN YOUR FACE," yells Christen Tramontana as she battles Joe "Chocolate with White Icing" Frisbee.

"GIMME A 'Y'!" yells Lance Stevenson as Bobby Harper complies while Ben Martin remains totally oblivious.

HONORS CONVOCATION

MULTIPLE WINNERS BILL Harris (Above) and Kacey Dalton (Right) accept congrats.

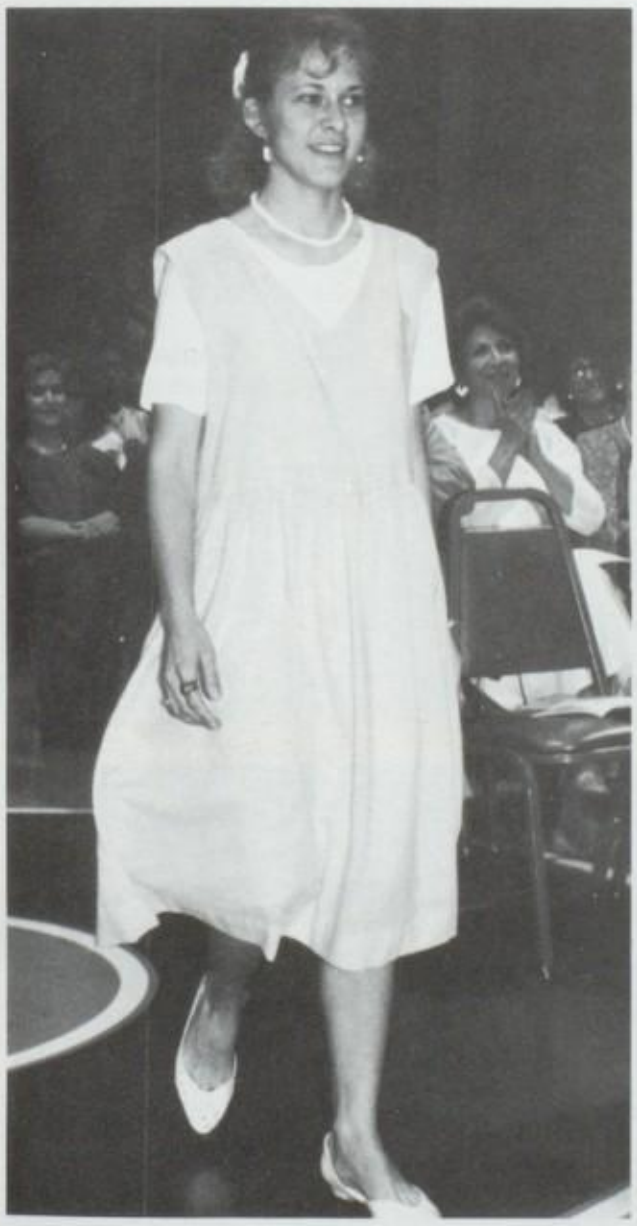
The 25th Honors Convocation, hosted in St. Pius's air conditioned gym, celebrated academic honors ranging from scholastic achievement and attendance to announcing senior scholarships and senior winners of the 30 Presidential Academic Fitness Awards. Multiple winners during the night were Bill Harris, Marcie Hankins, Annette McClain, Janna Journeycake, Kacey Dalton, and Kristen Stamile.

Oustanding senior in history was Andre Ducote, Army ROTC Scholar-Athlete awards went to Melissa Hughes and John Hanisch.

Erica Ward received the $4,000 MAPCO award. She named Brother Bernardine as the teacher who most influenced her, thus earning Brother a $500 check.

Anchor Club Service Award went to Bill Harris, with Teresa Erker the Key Club Sweetheart. Don Good won the Sons of the American Revolution Award.

The Academic Decathlon team, who finished seventh in the nation, was honored with their medals. Beth Keveney was named to the top team of national decathloners.



PICKING UP GOLD, Annette McClain captured honors in honor roll, attendance, language, business, and scholarship.

AROUND THE WORLD ON SPRING BREAK

Many Comets wasted no time over Spring Break in running as far as possible from school. Although many could only afford to go as far as South Padre Island, Texas, or Acapulco to bask on the white sands, a few lucky students traveled across the Atlantic to enchanting London to visit such landmarks as the Tower of London, Windsor Castle, and more importantly, Hard Rock Cafe.

The invigorating surroundings of the slopes attracted some Comets as they road-tripped to such towns and resorts in Colorado as Vail, Breckenridge, and Copper Mountain. Some Comets did spend their long-awaited vacation in T-town, but they surely steered clear of their beloved BKHS. All in all, Spring Break was a time for relaxation and much needed rest.

Prom '97 — A night to remember. The starry moonlit night, all of the festive dresses, the line of shining limousines; it was truly a night "on the edge of a dream." On Friday, May 8, most juniors and seniors rushed home to get ready for the big night. After hours of preparation, the exciting night began. Many couples dined at some of Tulsa's finer restaurants, while others enjoyed a special meal prepared at home. As the couples began to arrive, the Ramada Inn became a stage for a scene of fun and excitement. The Mystery Band played many favorite songs as everyone danced the night away.

One of the highlights of the evening was the coronation of Mr. and Miss Kelley, Steve Rauner and Kristen Stamile. Selected from the Boys and Girls of the Month, Steve and Kristen were a popular choice for this Kelley honor.

As the music died away, the night was still young. After parties and breakfast extended the festivities into the wee hours of the morning. "On The Edge Of A Dream" had become a reality. Prom '87 held special memories for all who attended.

GRADUATION

The 27th Commencement Program for the Comets '87 began at 8 P.M. Monday, May 18th at the PAC. Bishop Beltran conferred diplomas, with Brother Bernardine offering congratulations in Brother Larry's absence. Only a few grads gave keys to Brother, thus breaking a tradition of each graduate's passing a special surprise to the principal at graduation exercises.

Kristen Stamile, winner of the Bishop's Medal as outstanding grad, urged her classmates to excel while Kelly Carlile advised them to dream.

Alfre Woodard, Kelley '70, famed actress ("L.A. Law," "St. Elsewhere," Cross Creek, Extremities, Unnatural Causes, HBO's Mandela and an Emmy Award for "Hill Street Blues") exhorted the grads to enjoy their night, their time.

Alfre challenged all not to let anyone or anything steal away their hearts or their futures. By being aware of the global community, one lives a great life. As the audience gave Alfre a standing ovation, she returned their applause. To end the night, Sherry Viela took the DeLaSalle Medal. A first was recorded — Sherry had nothing to say.

Eucharistic Ministers

In the midst of the regular everyday activities, one group of Kelley students has dared to be different. This group is the Eucharistic Ministry. At the beginning of the year, 12 Seniors were chosen and later installed as ministers of the Eucharist. They are: Valerie Box, Todd Eveland, Stan Farrell, Pam Farry, Dan Fike, Sean Gales, Marci Hankins, Bill Harris, Mary Illig, Kathy Lumpkin, Mike McCoy, and Alecia Page.

Brother Kevin, the instigator of this once all-adult ministry to inform people that participation in the Eucharistic celebration is for everyone, not just for the Priests commented, "I am pleased with this fine group."

The members' prime duty is to distribute the Body and Blood of Christ, the bread and wine, to their fellows. Some ministers even extended their duties by participating in their parishes' Eucharistic celebrations.

The ministers also have the privilege of leading the morning prayers. Mike McCoy felt, "Nervousness is there the first time, but after a while, it is easy."

Todd Eveland and Marci Hankins commented that they wanted to experience the spiritual part of Kelley, and become Eucharistic ministers provided that feeling. Marci said, "Student involvement in Mass is important; the uneasiness of participation could be broken for the students by witnessing more student participation.

The presence of this special ministry reveals the faith which created Bishop Kelley, and that same faith continues to produce involved students.

— Bill Harris.

Students for Students

Students for Students is a group of 20 students who have gone through the St. John's alcohol rehabilitation series. The students signed up for the program last year after the St. John's team had several sessions with each religion class.

The program was geared toward making them resource people for other students with alcohol or drug-related questions. Said Stan Farrell, co-president of SFS, "We learned what alcoholism really is, and how it affects the family." Led by Dr. Jim Cage, a psychologist, and assistants Cindy Gammel and Mary Ann Lewis, the Kelleyites met once a week last spring learning to trust each other.

Two groups of students have now gone through the program and have united under the name Students for Students. Those involved in SFS are: Stan Farrell, Kerry Sterne, Sarah Flynn, Bill Fahey, Paul Gomez, Mike Cosmann, J. B. Jarboe, Karen Hills, Heather Young, Sara Ives, Tony Martinez, Dean Tate, Rae Ann Easton, Julie Foster, Jeff Jamison, Dee Ann Holker, Nancy Nichols, Heather Williams, Abby Gaddis, and Katie Ogg. They are attempting, not to stop drinking, but more to help high schoolers who do. The goal is to make prom and other major functions safe for students.

B.K. Makes the Big Times
National Secondary School Recognition Program

This year, Bishop Kelley was selected as one of the 72 private secondary schools nationwide to be visited in the spring as an Exemplary School Recognition in the National Secondary School Recognition Program, sponsored by the United States Department of Education.

The selection was made on a basis of a twenty-five page application completed by Sherry Vilela and Donna Yadon in December. They wrote their report based on information compiled by a committee composed of guidance counselor, Dana Beck; religion teacher, Ken Coughlin, and representatives from the history department, Tom Ballenger and Tom Williams.

According to Ms. Beck, the applications included, "everything" from academic standards to social functions, drop-out rates, sports, and the "intellectual climate."

On March 19 and 20, Mr. Burl Whatley evaluated Bishop Kelley; on April 2 and 3, Fr. Thomas Maikowski arrived to examine further the classes and facilities, to question the faculty, and to speak with students. They both looked for academic attributes, disciplinary action, and parent-community involvement, and a positive atmosphere.

Ms. Beck added, "They came to validate, to the extent possible, what we had written."

Although Bishop Kelley was recognized for its outstanding qualities in general, there was a special emphasis on courses teaching American history, democracy, and Constitutional freedoms. This year the bicentennial of the United States' Constitution in 1987 formed the basis of the competition.

Bishop Kelley was the only high school in Oklahoma chosen to receive an investigative visit. As this award is given to fewer than 100 schools across the nation, Bishop Kelley can indeed be proud.

OK Seat Belt Law

A new law, which began in February, has had a direct effect on every Kelleyite. This law is the Madatory Seat Belt Law, which required drivers and their front-seat passengers to wear seat belts. Only drivers of trucks, vans, and recreational vehicles are exempt from the law.

If someone is caught not wearing his seat belt, he is fined $10.00 plus $15.00 in court fees. The fine can only be given if someone is pulled over for another reason. To promote the law, $5.00 to $10.00 will be deducted from minor traffic violations if the offender is wearing his seat belt.

Senator Ben Brown, a Democrat from Norman, is the author of the law. There are now 24 states with the mandatory law; Oklahoma was the ninth to adopt it.

Cars manufactured after 1966 are effected and required to have seat belts installed. Local automotive shops charge about $100 to install each seat belt.

Oklahoma adopted the law in an attempt to lower the number of traffic fatalities. It has been estimated that one-half of all traffic-related injuries could be prevented if people wore their seat belts. Despite this fact, only 15% of all drivers consistantly wear seat belts. Fear of being trapped, discomfort and hassle are a few of the reasons given by the other 85%. Taking a few extra seconds could save lives; so buckle up, Comets.

The swatch fad displays the concern for safety

1986-1987

RETROSPECTIVE

1986-1987

One last look! It was a fast-paced year with the focus of the '80's carrying through the "me" generation. It was a year of death and new life, of crisis and jubilation, of violence and peace.

Many mourned the death of the silver screen heart throb, Cary Grant, and the hard-nosed James Cagney. They rejoiced in the birth of Princess Caroline's baby, and Prince Andrew and Sarah Ferguson's wedding.

1986 was a year when the American public began to take a realistic look into the consequences of having many sexual partners. AIDS became a world-wide concern, and the slogan of the '60's, "make love, not war," lost much of its glory.

Parents began to deal realistically with the problems of drugs and sex among teenagers. Condom ads were proposed for television and magazines. Sex education became more desirable and less stifled in junior highs nationwide. Also, information on drug and alcohol abuse became easily accessible to teens.

President Reagan uncomfortably basked in the glare of light shed on the Iran-Contra arms affair. This scandalous event resulted in the resignation of top advisor, Donald Regan.

In South Africa, major United States-based companies like Coca-Cola, turned over their operations to the black businessmen in an effort to put an end to apartheid.

California remained a part of the continent and did not sink into the depths of the Pacific. Florida citrus farmers experienced another frost that drastically cut back their harvest. The mid-west experienced the worst flood in the last twenty years.

1987 was also a year for religious upheavals. Oral Roberts used his propheting to rake in a net five million dollar profit. He spent the last ten days of March in his landmark Prayer Tower to emerge in April "near death," but with new healing powers.

Leading evangelists Jim and Tammy Baker aired their "dirty laundry" for what may have been the last time. The couple checked into the Betty Ford Rehabilitation home due to Tammy's addiction to various drugs (along with her Maybelline make-up) and turned over their extensive "Praise the Lord" empire to Jerry Falwell.

Vanna White became the queen of TV game shows on "Wheel of Fortune." The prestigious Oscar now graces the homes of Paul Newman and Marlee Maitlin who were named 1986's best actor and actress. Platoon was awarded best picture of the year for its realistic portrayal of the Vietnam War.

For the United States, it was the 200th anniversary of the Constitution. The growing relations between the Soviet Union and the United States reached new heights in 1987. The year was one which few at Bishop Kelley will forget.

Comet Jargon

Kelley is a school full of individuals striving to be unique in all that they do. From the remnants of the English language has evolved a new "Comet Lingo" that all cool Kelleyites incorporate into their own vocabularies. More complex and modern than the once popular "Valley Talk," this Comet jargon is a most unique argot that sets Kelleyites apart from students from other schools, as well as most normal people. The use of this slang starts from freshman year and will be a part of all Comets until they graduate and mature enough to use the real English language. Below is a list of common terms heard daily in the gibber of Kelleyites.

Awesome — Perhaps overused and trite, but will always be appropriate and fashionable.
Happ'nin' — few parties in the Tulsa area are ever this.
Nuking — getting tan by unnatural means
Scheming — planning how to catch that certain someone
Combo — cool term for locker combination
Babe — a very attractive girl
Hot — a very attractive guy
Sizzlin — exceeds hot
Live — extremely cool
Rap — talk; communicate
Let's jet — let's go
Dork — nerd guy
Lame — no fun
Nasty — ugly; uncool
Blaze up — light a cigarette
Chill — calm down, take a deep breathe, count to ten, etc. . .
No dice — no way
Adonis — hottest guy possible
Goddess — hottest girl possible
Wind action — car window

87 Ways to PROCRASTINATE

As defined by Webster's dictionary, to procrastinate is "to put off intentionally the doing of something that should be done."

Procrastination is a fine art that has been mastered by many Kelleyites. Seniors frequently blame their procrastination on a mysterious disease called "Senioritis." The class of 1987 has compiled the following 87 ways to procrastinate.

1. Go to the River.
2. Eat bonbons.
3. Make dinner.
4. Paint fingernails.
5. Read the Sunday comics.
6. Talk on the phone.
7. Take a bubble bath.

13. Play outside.
14. Go shopping.
15. Go to the movies.
16. Daydream.
17. Eat.
18. Work out.
19. Count calories for the day.
20. Go driving aimlessly.
21. Go skating.
22. Sleep.
23. Go to a sporting event.
24. Listen to the radio.
25. Clean room.
26. Rent a movie.
27. Anything.
28. Nothing.
29. Look at old notes.
30. Flip through old Crests.
31. Write letters.
32. Get out of the house.
33. Draw.
34. Think about boys/girls.
35. Rewind all of tapes.
36. Alphabetize rewound tapes.
37. Check to see if the mail has come.
38. Call time and temperature.
39. Clean out wallet.
40. Plan Spring Break trips.
41. Count the days until graduation.

44. Talk to the dog.
45. Count the days until a birthday.
46. Admire new-found tan.
47. Organize shoes.
48. Play solitaire.
49. Experiment with new makeup.
50. Floss teeth.
51. Shave legs.
52. Count the number of flowers on wallpaper.
53. Prank people.
54. Watch taped versions of "Moonlighting," "Cosby Show," and soaps.
55. Make Christmas list.
56. Cut hair.
57. Tease bangs.
58. Pluck eyebrows.
59. Make a list of exes.
60. Fertilize the Kelley Grapevine.
61. Pair socks.
62. Rearrange room.
63. Wash car.
64. Check car for dents.
65. Mow the lawn.
66. Dress cat/dog in doll clothes.
67. Recalculate GPA.
68. Bake a cake.
69. Put on Carmex.
70. Chew on pen top.
71. Carve the initials of future mates on your desk top.
72. Get the prizes out of the cereal boxes.
73. Stare at books and hope that they will disappear.
74. Count the number of aspirins in the aspirin bottle.
75. Sing old T.V. theme songs.
76. Change burnt out light bulbs.
77. Peel off wallpaper/paint.
78. Read dirty magazines.
79. Turn eyelids inside-out.
80. Make a list of things one should be doing.
81. Count how long one can hold his breath.
82. Look at baby pictures.
83. Clean out purse.
84. Count the change found in the bottom of purse.
85. Think of baby names.
86. Count how many licks it takes to get to the middle of a Tootsie Roll pop.
87. Think of 87 ways to procrastinate.

spring fever hits Kelley

Seniors Learn Wedding Bell Blues

Second semester, senior year should be a time for seniors to sit back, relax, and breathe a sigh of relief as they enjoy their final days of high school and wait eagerly for graduation. However, Bishop Kelley seniors spend their last days in turmoil; balancing a budget, planning a monthly menu, looking for an apartment, and completing numerous other tasks — all part of the famous marriage projects. These countless tasks are an attempt to prepare seniors for adulthood and the "real world."

While seniors' minds are still on spring break, they are burdened by a 1250 point inconvenience that composes the majority of their religion grades. The administration obviously thinks the project is helpful to the students, but most seniors seem to think just the opposite — that it is a ridiculous assignment that makes the "real world" look discouraging. Although the project will probably never be excluded from the senior curriculum, it is wise to observe both the pros and cons of this monstrous assignment.

Marriage, in general, is a frightening thought, but the idea of being wed to a fellow classmate provokes nightmares for many seniors. Although religion teachers preach that marriage is a holy sacrament based on love, maturity, and respect, the difficulty of the project shows that marriage is a job demanding an incredible amount of time also. Seniors spend half a semester driving around town to get imformation about cars, apartments, insurance, and countless other tasks. Going through the motions of being an adult is a learning experience for most seniors; it is a small taste of what it is like in the "real world."

However, in real life, one is allowed to date a person for several months or years before taking on such a responsibility as marriage; the project entails choosing a partner in one or two days. Many seniors complain on project due-date that their spouse did not do his/her share, and therefore, should get no credit. The spouse will get an "F" on the project, and possibly even fail Christian living, a required course for graduation. Dividing up tasks between spouses requires quite an effort on both the part of the husband and wife. Hard work and procrastination, synonymous with the project, dispell any false impressions that married life is easy.

In religion classes, most students wed classmates whom they would never even consider marrying in real life. Partners who were not compatible had to learn to work well together. By the end of the project, the project was more than a grade to seniors — it was something they will look back on and laugh. Seniors, whether choosing the swinging-singles vocation or married life, will find many uses for the knowledge gained from the project. Most seniors agree that the idea of the marriage project is worthwhile, but they fell it should not be so difficult.

In real life, a couple could not do this much work in the short amount of time; however, procrastination is a major influence in the process of the project. Learning how the real world works will be beneficial to everyone, but most of the work is finding all the "how-to" information. Many parents also supported the project, feeling that it was useful. As children get older, they need to know the immense responsibilities of adulthood. The project is useful in this aspect; it gives seniors the chance to experience "real life" before actually having to be out on their own and discover how much work it is.

the ideal mate

jolt!

Comets Search

For years, Kelleyites have searched for the ideal mate. A recent poll reveals the striking characteristics of the perfect partner.

The ideal mate for female Kelleyites is not only irresistibly gorgeous, but also hopelessly romantic. He has the body of Steve Lundquist, ice-blue eyes, jet-black hair, smooth bronze skin, defined features, white teeth, and a smile that could melt inspector twelve. "Physical characteristics are only part of a man," says Wendy Poole. Whatever happened to courting and chivalry? Romance could take the place of all the physical traits. Any girl would love to receive flowers, to go on a horse-and-carriage ride downtown, or just to have a picnic by the river. Do any of these ideal men exist?

The ideal woman for a male Kelleyite, on the other hand, has a gorgeous body out of the Sports Illustrated's swimsuit edition, long, flowing hair, sparkling blue eyes, and an innocent smile; however, a touch of defiance is necessary for a mysterious night on the town. The woman should be extremely active but must not lose an ounce of her femininity. Today's man desires the forever faithful girl who is practically perfect in every way. The search is endless, but who can really determine the ideal mate?

New Wave Hits Kelley

Jolting into the competitive soft drink market this spring was a revolutionary new idea in soda pop, Jolt Cola. Claiming to contain "all the sugar and twice the caffeine," this new beverage stirred the imagination of most consumers, as well as those of curious Comets, who hoped the cola would legally produce the same effect as illegal beverages.

Saving calories wherever possible to achieve a perfect 10 body and great shape had become a national American pastime, and no market answers to the health and fitness craze more than the soft drink market. The new soft drink, Jolt, attempted to change the boring world of "uncolas" that claim to have half the calories, no caffeine, and low sodium, while they provide the consumer with half the taste.

Since these drinks lack most of the ingredients that make a cola a cola, Jolt tried to restore the "good old-fashioned" soda pop that is consumed for the sole reason of taste, a quality that has been neglected since the recent American quest for a perfect body.

Many people question the purpose for such a beverage, thinking that the excess sugar, caffeine, and calories is needless in today's healthy America. However, the many uses for such a cola become clearer every day. That person who is the epitome of grouchiness until he has had his morning cup of coffee, now has an alternative.

Loaded with so much caffeine and sugar, Jolt can produce the same effect on an individual as coffee does: it makes one irritable, nervous, and nauseaous, but it does keep one alert and awake. Students pulling "all-nighters" in a desperate attempt to cram a semester's worth of information into 10 hours can greatly appreciate a cola such a Jolt. Previously, Comets resorted to coffee, tea, or NO DOZ to keep alert, now students can have their pop and stay awake, too.

Whatever the reason for consuming Jolt, it does provide that extra jolt of energy to keep a person going. It just might be that little lift needed to get one through the day without yawning and stretching and being a lethargic wimp. Don't be surprised if Jolt replaces Pepsi as the "choice of a new generation."

Joining a club might help you meet that guy or girl of your dreams! — Rebecca Reynolds, '87.

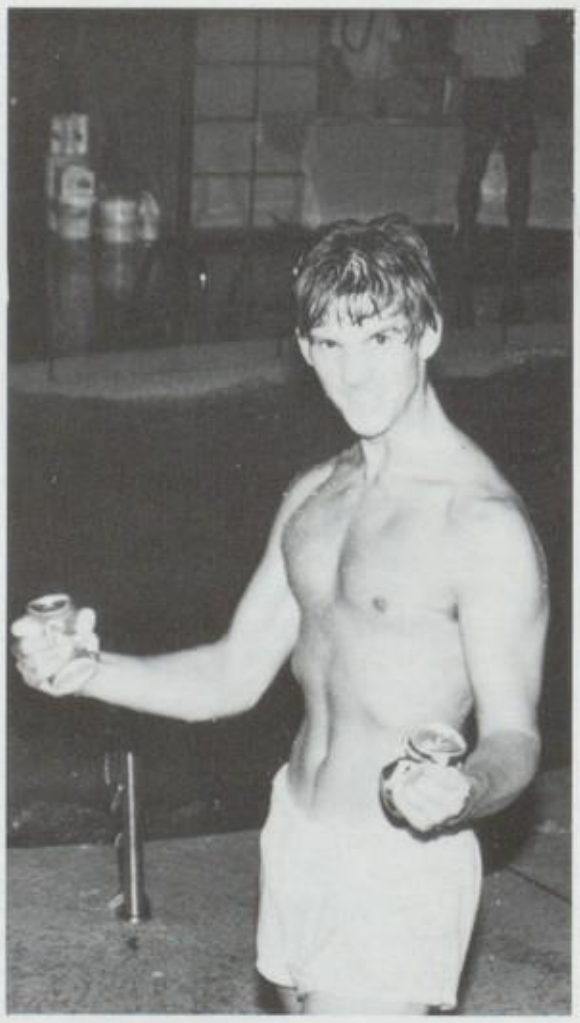
You can make up ridiculous private jokes with other members — memories to last forever — Leslie Graham, '87.

THE BREAKFAST CLUB

There is something for everyone in the Comet Club Network, whether you are a princess, a jock, a brain, a criminal, or a basket case. The school-spirited Comet can join Pep Club or Student Council. The helpful Comet can join Red Cross, Anchor Club, Key Club, or KTA. The Thespian Comet can join the Forensics Club. For the intellectual Comet, clubs like Computer Club and Chess Club offer a chance to stretch their knowledge. Other "brains" can try out for the Academic Decathlon or enter competition for the National Merit Awards. For the very special Comet, there is Journalism.

Why should a Comet join a club? Most agreed that everyone needs to be involved and to meet new people. Mike Miles commented, "Involvement in clubs makes you a real member of the Kelley community." Jud Doherty stated that being a club member taught him to sacrifice his time for others. Theresa Conrey agreed with that and added, "It's also important to get your picture in the yearbook as much as possible!"

Leslie Graham remarked that joining a club is more than just another activity for your transcript — it is a reason to escape the burden of your parents for weeknight meetings." Still not convinced? Well, just remember the words of Leslie Graham — "Wreak havoc at Kelley by being an irresponsible club member — disrupt the balance of power!"



"SWAMP THING" TODD Eveland displays his manly physique.

PEP CLUB

This wild organization has perhaps one of the most diverse memberships of all the clubs at Kelley. Almost every good Comette becomes a member of the Pep Club and begins to devote her time to increasing Comet pride and spirit. Not only does membership to this club look good on one's transcript, but it is a lot of fun to belong to.

Pep Club women can be often found cheering their lungs out with cries of victory at many Kelley athletic events, driving the awesome Kelley sportos to triumph time and time again. Or, they may keep themselves busy by organizing festive Homecoming activities. What about those inspirational pep rallies? Even the most nonchalant Kelleyite loses his cool and goes wild in cries of praise to the mighty Comet, although it is disputed whether this excitement is due to the big game or the thrill of missing sixth hour. What would athletes think if they walked down the halls of B.K. without those bright, enthusiastic, yet often crude, signs urging them to victory. Pep Club's spirit-sacks filled with candy not only increased athletes' pride, but they might also have increased their waistlines.

Pep Club deserves a hearty round of applause for their devotion to BK. There will always be a need for spirit at Kelley, and the Pep Club will always be there to fire up.

"Comets Have Such awesome spirit; other schools just can't come near it!" Ali Keefer, '87

STUDENT COUNCIL

SOPHOMORE CHUCK FORBES hopes to follow in President Todd Wilson's shadow.

Stuck on Stuco!

Early morning meetings and Saturday lawn rakes plagued this year's ambitious, never-say-die, Stuco. Bound and determined to be one of the most successful Student Councils in Kelley history, devoted members gave up much time and effort as they planned events and activities that would benefit the whole school. The student Senate and the House of Representatives busily conspired such schemes as the Psyco movie, the Winter Homecoming festivities, the Aloha dance, and the long-awaited return of the Winter and Summer Kelley Olympics.

Basic Student Council members were driven by the belief that "ΔBK makes you want to shout!" and worked long, hard hours on the O.A.S.C. Vice-presidency campaign during the fall. After an upsetting defeat at the State Convention, the Comets returned home even defeat at the State Convention, the Comets returned home even more determined to make Student Council simply awesome.

ANCHOR CLUB

Anchors of the School

When a lady Comet finally reaches her phenomenal junior year, she is accepted as an elite member of the Kelley Community. Not only is she now an upperclass woman and respected by all, but also she will undoubtably become an Anchor of the school. Joining the Anchor club entails a great deal of duty and responsibility for the most hardworking junior and senior women.

Each year, the club astounds the school with numerous projects, such as the annual Luau and Halloween Goblin Grams. This year, members exceeded the usual Anchor Club duties by donating over $300 worth of clothes to the poor and funding the victorious Academic Decathlon team in their journey to Dallas for the National Competition.

Being a member of the Anchor club is fun for all. As member Julie Nash summed it up, "We really know how to throw a great party. Anchor Club is just a rough crowd." The Anchor Club woman is more than just a pretty face; she is a motivated, dedicated asset to Kelley High.

Bus Washing — it's not just a job, it's an adventure — Jeff Roberts '87

Key Club, brother club to Anchor, certainly brought about a big change this year. Formerly dedicated solely to bus-washing and partying, Key Clubbers set out to change their party-hardy image. Brother Chris Baker, mentor of Key Club, required all members to serve 15 volunteer hours in service to the community.

Members volunteered to work at the Auction, to do lawn work at Osage Hills, and to clean up after the Luau. In addition, Key Club sponsored the clothes and necessities drive for the Day Center for the Homeless in first semester.

Officers have found that membership has increased this year, perhaps due to renewed involvement in our community. But will Key Club ever live down its reputatation as a wild and crazy fraternity? Of course not. And do they want to? Not really. After all, as Secretary Bill Harris said, "It has been one heck of a time!"

"HAVE A SEAT?!?" calls out Auction volunteer Steve Rauner.

KEY CLUB OFFICERS Alex Gandall, Mike Miles, and Bill Harris strike a GQ pose, oblivious to the Anchor Girls' laughter.

PHOTOGRAPHY CLUB

"The experience just cannot be captured on film!" — Marci Hankins, '87

1987 brought the development of the first Photography Club. Members, under the leadership of professional photographer Ray Crowley, Jr., met once or twice a month brushing up on the various skills. Their work was featured in the newspaper, slide show, and the yearbook.

Officers of this shutter-clicking club were: President Marci Hankins, Vice-President Sevan Kazandjian, and Secretary/Treasurer Bill Harris.

Members of the club enjoyed the opportunity to work with Ray Crowley. He helped them improve their photo-taking abilities. Members also found that being behind the camera increased their number of friends drastically, as smiling Kelleyites competed for the camera at dances, games and even during school.

CHRISTEN TRAMONTANA LOVES rendering Chris Smith helpless.

The contributions of Red Cross cannot be measured in pints and quarts only. Other than the infamous blood drive, which entices donors with cookies and with the satisfaction of doing a good deed, Red Cross also provides Christmas stockings for needy Tulsa children.

This year has been a successful one for this service club. "We got a lot more done this year. I think we have a good chance at getting a service award," commented Sarah Flynn. President Kristen Stamile said, "When we first started, I thought it would be very hard work. I was surprised and honored to notice that people wanted to help us just because we were the Red Cross."

Doing good deeds brings interesting results, members have found. "I thought giving blood was cool. It made me dizzy," admitted Julie Nash. Kelly Carlile found that, "Giving a pint of blood was definitely worth it when they handed me my very own styrofoam ball." Secretary Kristin Anderson remarked, "Stuffing stockings made me feel worthwhile, but I really wanted to sneak a box of Crackerjacks."

CAREY ARNS HAS a hearty chuckle over Mrs. Karey's confusion at the Auction.

Forensics Club

No, They Do Not Study Dead People!

Hey, Trophies, Come this way! — Stacie Hankins '88.

The Forensics club has enjoyed rapid growth in its second year of existence. Under the leadership of Mrs. Patti Anderson, members debated, competed in speech tournaments, and took the one-act play "Juvie" to regional competition, winning third place. The year was highlighted by Mrs. Anderson's napkin trick, "The Return Of The Brows," and after tournament pizzas.

Leading the club to new heights were President Jason McClelland, Vice-President Ann Delpha, Treasurer Jacque Goodine, and Secretary Mary DeLesDernier, with Doug Farry as Chuckle Chairman.

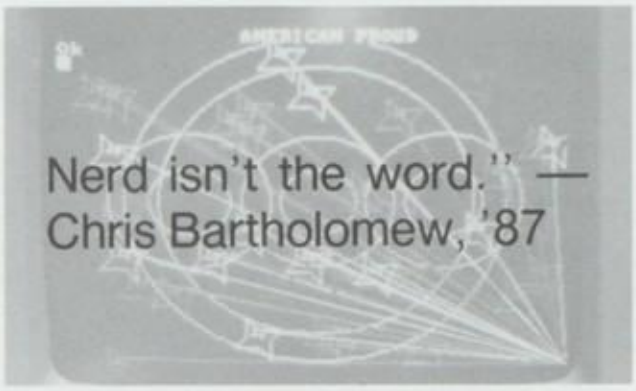
CHESS COMPUTER CLUB

ROY LUTKE PROVES once again that chess is a spell-weaving sport.

CHECK-MATES ARE, Counter-clockwise: Mr. David Framel, Burt Mummolo, Claire Graham, Joe Burger, Jane Ho, Roy Lutke, Chris Bartholomew.



So, you like pushing buttons, printing out pictures, and flopping discs? Then Computer Club is for you! Mrs. Haddock acts as the advisor of the Computer Club, one of the fastest growing organizations in the Comet Club Network.

Computer Club sponsors a program to teach adults the basics of computer use. Members play matchmaker through the computer-compatibility lists. A refreshing addition to the organization is a "Lazer Tag" program.

But what is the goal of Computer Club? "Basically our goal is to become very knowledgeable in computers and break into the Bishop Kelley grade system," remarked senior Roy Lutke. Or, as Todd Eveland stated, "It's totally psychedelic!!"

Brightening up the Comet Club Network in its first appearance is the Chess Club. "Check Mates" met once a week to play, discuss strategies, and plan tournaments. A high point of their debut year was when members worked together to develop a method of placing an opponent in checkmate in seven moves. Although most Comets did not take this club seriously, President Roy Lutke assures us it is for real. "Everyone picks on us because we have such high I.Q.'s," said Roy. The only requirement for members is a high I.Q. "No knowledge of chess is necessary. We'll teach anyone."

Joe Burger, a devoted member, added excitement to the meetings with his addition of "Korean Rules Chess." Other members enjoyed learning the rules which changed according to the situation.

Members of the clubs resent their image. "It's amost terrible," said senior Chris Bartholomew, "People associate us with being brainy nerds, but there are all different kinds of people in these clubs."

ACADEMIC DECATHLON

Who on earth would volunteer to study three days a week for two hours after school, and not even be graded on it? Why, the Academic Decathlon Team, of course. These students with a thirst for learning and a hunger for knowledge began studying soon after being chosen. This year, the team really brought home the gold at the State Competition, with Doug Farry taking first; Beth Keveney, second; Annette McKee, third; Jenny Nasser, fourth; John Merrill, fifth; and Fred Ames, seventh.

Decathletes had to be well-versed in a variety of subjects such as economics, chemistry, astronomy, math from algebra to calculus, the Renaissance, and poetry. In addition, competitors had to deliver a three and a half to four minute speech. This is definitely no place for the weak of heart. "Fearless Leader" Alan Weyland made sure of that.

On April 24-28, Decathletes traveled to Dallas to compete in the National Competition. The glory of these Comets will always shine!

Decathlon is both a team and an individual effort. You have to commit yourself to both to make it work. —

SEMI-FINALISTS FOR both National Merit are: Kristen Stamile, Jim Dorris, and Marcella Hankins. Janna Journeycake is Commended.

The horrors of the PSAT — waking up at 6:00 A.M. on a Saturday, sharpening two Number Two pencils, filling in hundreds of ovals, and defining words like "ennui" and "loquacious." But for the Comet brain, the test holds no terror. And on the basis of these test scores, the National Merit Program and the National Achievement Program for Outstanding Black Students select an elite few to be semi-finalists or finalists in their competitions. This year, the chosen were few, but extremely worthy. Janna Journeycake was commended by the National Merit Program, and Jim Dorris was a semi-finalist. Kristen Stamile was the only finalist this year.

Marcella Hankins was the second in Comet history to become a finalist in the National Achievement Program for Outstanding Black Students. She was awarded a $2,000 grant for her college education. A big thanks goes to Mrs. Oliver and Mrs. Beck for their guidance to all the college-bound seniors.

JOURNALISM

Ye Olde Journalists!

Journalism is meant for very special Comets. The 29-member staff began its work in the early summer with the calendar, then went on to workshops at Northeastern State University in Tahlequah and Southern Methodist University in Dallas. Throughout the year, journalists worked on the Chronicles and the yearbook, led by the fearless Joe Frisbee, yearbook editor Kacey Dalton, and newspaper editors Janna Journeycake and Kristen Stamile.

'86-'87 Journalists pride themselves on producing the first Kelley yearbook with a color senior section. They also sponsored the senior-faculty dinners and designed and published the alumni newsletter.

Comet journalists will never forget the War Eagle bunkhouses, moonlight swims, "Ye Olde Pub," or shopping in Dallas. Ad drives, weeknight meetings, deadlines, and pizza accentuated the year.

KTA

"GEE, I LOVE my job!"

I'll Do Anything for money . . . even get up early and drive freshmen — Jud Doherty '87.

KTA, Kelley Transit Authority, is the lifesaver of freshmen and sophomores who wish to avoid the embarrassment of parental transportaion. These helpful Comet bus drivers take their fellow Kelleyites to school and home daily, to the occasional out-of-town games, to Days of Recollection and fieldtrips.

At the end of their junior year, prospective KTA drivers are required to take a week of classes on safe bus driving. Afterwards, they take many written and driving tests to prove their new-found abilities. And although all twelve have evolved into paragons of caution and safety, no one will forget that Chris Smith failed his first driving test, or about Mike Iten and the semi.

Chris Smith, Patty Soza, and Frank Yoon agree that KTA is a great organization, and recall with laughter throwing tennis balls at the Indian, playing pranks on Mike Iten at Mazzio's, and Mr. Minnesota and the infamous "Unit 9." Mr. Fred Davis leads these courageous drivers who make up the only student bus driver organization in the United States.

CAMPUS MINISTRY

It's not just a group, it's a ministry.
Sr. Joan Duerst

GET INVOLVED! This is the message Comets are greeted with every year. "Boy how can I get involved?", one may ask. Why, through Campus Ministry, of course! Campus Ministry offers many different facets allowing the typical Comet to "get involved."

MUSIC MINISTRY is one of Kelley's most noticeable groups in Campus Ministry. These aspiring musicians played at most BK Masses and prayer services. Sr. Joan Duerst, director of the group, explained, "We express God's message through music." Jason Watts, junior, agreed and added, "If Jesus were alive today, He'd be jammin' in Music Ministry."

CLOWN MINISTRY is in its second year at BK and the group is still growing. Br. Kevin Brutcher, chief clown, describes Clown Ministry as, " . . . a fun way to share your talents with others . . . a unique way to make people smile." The Clowns were invited to a meal at the Catholic Worker House, handed out balloons at Southroads Mall, and helped out at the Easter Egg Hunt held at BK for children who have cancer. As Scott Carlile, freshman, explained, "You learn to make a fool out of yourself for your fellow man!"

The highlight of Campus Ministry came at Thanksgiving when Br. Kevin orchestrated a "celebration of talents," involving many Kelleyites. Groups participating included the Forensics Club, Music Ministry, Comet Dancers, and famous BK jocks.

PARENTS & BOOSTERS

MR. AND MRS. SEDLACEK, the 1988 Auction Chair-Couple, hesitantly accept the monstrous task.

Chris Wolking, the youngest school board president in Kelley history, did an exceptional job keeping the Comets within their budget in '86-87.

Composed of hard-working moms and dads of the Kelley community, the Parents' Club, School Board and Booster Club are perhaps the most under-rated, yet active organizations in the Comet Club Network. Headed by the Sedlaceks, the Parents' Club set out to support B.K. in any way it could. Many parents have given up their own personal time to partake in such exciting tasks as sending bulletins, varnishing furniture, raising money for the Endowment Fund, or generally organizing the ever-popular Auction. "Uptown Saturday Night" brought Kelley parents out of the heat of the gym and into the sophistication of the Excelsior Hotel for this year's very successful auction.

The Bishop Kelley School Board consists of parents and other members of the Tulsa Catholic Diocese who have the enjoyable task of regulating the school budget.

The Booster Club, led by Mr. and Mrs. Nasser, was very successful this year. Besides supporting athletics in every possible way, Boosters also spend their energy organizing the three Sports Banquets, putting together the program, and selling those fashionable Kelley monogrammed sweaters.

The accomplishments of these hard-working parents can hardly be overlooked. Without their loyalty and devotion to both our beloved school and their Comet children, Kelley would be a very different place.

This year's athletes showed us that they had what it took — they had All the Right Moves. The teams started the year young and inexperienced, but they matured and gained knowledge through the thrills of victory and the agonies of defeat.

The dedication of each athlete made each team a "winning" team. No matter what the season's record conveyed, the spirit, pride, and devotion to excellence made this year a success. No one tried harder or gave more of himself/herself than the Kelley athlete.

As the days grew shorter and the nights colder, every Kelleyite was glad to see the arrival of the INDOOR Winter sports. Basketball meant high-scoring games and fun-filled pizza parties afterwards. Wrestling brought entertainment to the weekday evenings as well as the two-day trip to Stillwater for State competition. Swimming took us to almost every nautical location within a twenty-five mile radius of Kelley.

Our Spring sports: tennis, soccer, golf, baseball, and track were already underway before the ground began to thaw. Soccer was found to be a "kick in the grass" by both players and spectators. Track got off to a good start and finished strong. Baseball and tennis were "hits." Golf, a sport for swinging singles, was up to par, and the cheerleaders, male and female, and the pom pon squad were always there, encouraging and establishing spirit in everyone.

SPORTS

All the Right Moves

This year is one to be remembered for its well-deserved victories and its occasional defeats. Yet one thing is for sure, with all the sports available, each Kelleyite was given the opportunity to show the other that he/she, too, had All the Right Moves.

★★BEST DEFENSE★★

Intense playing . . . High-scoring games . . . Non-stop action = Bishop Kelley basketball. As the season came to an end, the Varsity boys had captured yet another Conference Title. Both boys' teams had strong finishes.

This year's Varsity team finished 17-6 with a conference record of 7-1. The five starters made a great team. Good rebounding, high free-throw percentage, and low number of turnovers all attributed to their success. Credit also goes to Coach Dennis Hamilton, who was named Coach of the Year. "It's the most complete team I've had in five years as a head coach."

This year's defense was incredibly effective. In majority of the games, the defense held the opponent to under 54 points a game. This year Kelley had "The Best Defense."

They worked well together. Steve Axley and Kevin Dee (co-captains) were strong leaders. Both added to the unity of the team which made the Varsity work in sync.

The juniors and sophomores of the Junior Varsity team played a strong season finishing with a record of 14-4. They show great potential for next year.

They supported and encouraged each other on and off the court. Said Matt Sedlacek, '89, "The bench support was great."

Both teams finished with admirable records. They worked hard, kept the Kelley spirit alive, and provided hours of entertainment.

TO MAKE THE game ever more exciting, Kevin Dee performs a few magic tricks. Notice how the ball remains suspended in air with Kevin's "magic" touch.

Girls Charge to Finish

With the outstanding finish of 10-15, the girls' season was truly the best! The unity of the superb offense and the strong defense allowed this season to be a winning one. All the long, hard practice hours paid off. The defense got things together, and they seemed to work as one.

The desire to win was more evident than ever this year. Individual players showed their best on and off the court. Ginger Lewis was a strong offensive player. Bernadette Sterne worked hard and proved she could handle playing with the best. Caryn Ceigelski was an impenetrable part of the Kelley defense.

Excellent team support and the ability to overcome exsisting injuries helped the team to become closer adding to the already present togetherness. Kelley girls showed that they could overcome the odds and had an improved season. They advanced to the second week of state play-offs.

A SEASON OF LEARNING

High School Basketball: for some it's a terrifying time; for others it's an exhilarating time. For the Freshmen Comets, it was a learning time. It was a season of firsts: their first experience in high school basketball, their first season as a team. Despite all the pressures, the freshmen boys' team showed great potential.

The first few games gave them a chance to "get their feet wet." Like babies learning to walk, the transition to a new team, new players, and new surroundings was awkward. But later in the season, the team rebounded, and things began to "click."

The Kelley-Cascia game was the game of the freshman season. Besides the deep-rooted rivalry, BK played incredibly well. Passing, shooting, and defense were superb.

"We made dumb mental mistakes, but we also learned from our mistakes," said Kevin Back. With this philosophy, things look good for next year. This year's freshmen boys' team worked hard and they succeeded. Next year holds great promise; but for this year, it was a season of learning.

Frosh Go 7-8

It's hard enough to handle the pressure of the first year in high school without the added troubles of making a name for one's self in a sport. Eleven brave freshmen girls took on the extra burden and did remarkably well.

Ending the season with a record of 7-8, the girls had a strong season despite being united as a team for the first time. As any young, new team, they had difficulties becoming consolidated and working well together. Through practice and trial and error, the girls finished the season strong and dignified.

The girls have great potential to go on to Junior Varsity and maybe even become the next Ginger Lewis or Caryn Ciegelski. These frosh have talent and ability. As a first-time team, they are to be admired.

The Good, the Bad and the Ugly

The 1986 Comet footballers defined to Kelley a new meaning of the word spirit. Even though the record stood at 1-9, the Comets never lost hope. With only three returning starters, eight seniors, and a new head coach, the team was young and inexperienced.

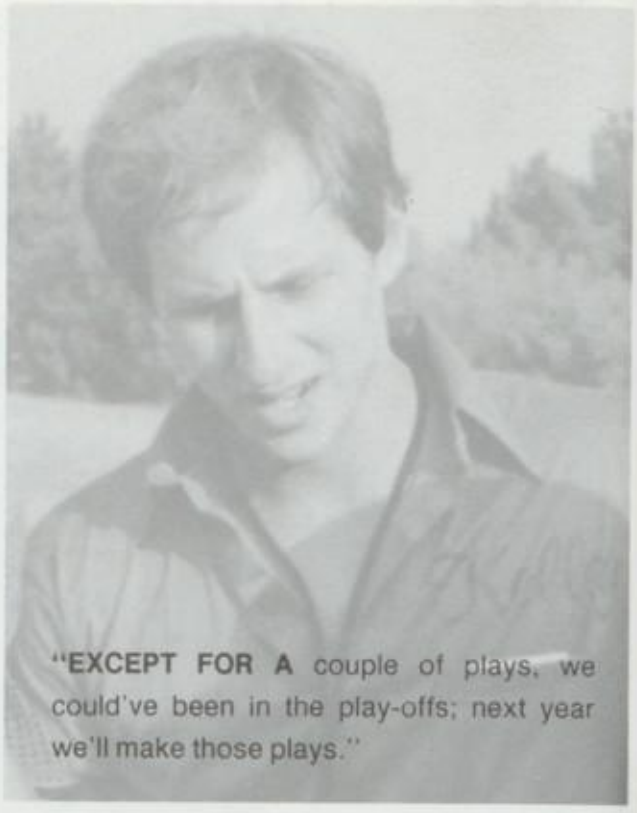
Kelley opened the season against McGuiness. This was the first time in 20 years that the red and the green had met. The game's highpoint was Stan McCabe's total rushing of 103 yards.

Mr. Weeldreyer's first victory came in the third game of the season against Okmulgee. The Comets' tough defense scored the only points in the game with a safety late in the thrid quarter.

The Comets' heartbreak came with the Edison-Kelley Homecoming game. Inspite of the prowess of both the defense and the offense, the Eagles overtook them to win 7-3. Eric Vosburgh commented, "We had good defensive effort. The offense showed its first threat all year, but was still unable to score." The Comets neither lost hope nor spirit. They came back a few weeks later to give fourth-ranked Sallisaw the scare of their season. The fans gave the team tremendous support as they watched Kelley lead the game 10-3 halftime.

Emerging from the locker room, the Comets were filled with confidence and pride. Sallisaw overtook them in the second half to win 17-10. The BK team was disappointed, but they knew that they had proven their ability.

It was a tough season for everyone, but the Comet spirit and pride proved unyielding. The fans and the players had a good time, but also remembered that "winning isn't everything."



"EXCEPT FOR A couple of plays, we could've been in the play-offs; next year we'll make those plays."

Freshmen Think Spirit

It was an ordinary freshman football season. The class of 1990 held a 0-7 record. Most people would say that they were young, inexperienced, and that they had never played together as a team. This is all true. But this year's team has something great going for them. They had spirit. Although there were times when this hardworking team felt like throwing in the towel, they carried on, learning from each experience they encountered.

Joining this year's coaching staff, was senior Steve Rauner, and teacher Mr. Framel. With Coach Williams, they drilled the young Comets day after day over the summer and early fall, hoping that next year this youthful gang would bring a state title for the varsity team. So don't look at this year's record, wait until next year, because these guys will be back in the action, and better than ever before.

SPLASH

SPLASH! This is the sound one hears as the gun is shot and the swimmers dive into the pool, backstroking, freestyling, and breaststroking to the end of their destination — the finish line. The Kelley swimmers once again brought victory in the state competition. Although the girls did not place in state, the boys finished seventh in a tournament. Except for Oolagah, Kelley was the only 4A team present.

Captains for the boys' team were Mike McCoy and Jon Cremin. Christine Reinolds, captain of the girls' team, was said to be "the sweetest girl in this room," at the Winter Sports Banquet, by Coach Brougher. He also stated that next year the Kelley swimmers would be placed in the top five.

The Kelley swimmers have shown a great sense of pride throughout the swimming season. They have worked hard to achieve their goals, and although all the goals were not met, they will be.

VISION QUEST

"We had a relatively young team, but we improved with each meet." — Coach Davis

The wrestling team had a dream to win the state championship. The obstacle of a young and inexperienced team, though, was too difficult to overcome for the 3-7-1 Comets.

The Comets wrestled in three regular season tournaments; Jenks, Edison, and Yukon. Although as a team they did not place in the top three, Kelley was well-represented individually in these tournaments by Seniors Robbie Winter and Keith Nix, Junior Jason Bolton, and Freshman John Nix.

The losses of Steve Jeter, due to mononucleosis, and Jason Bolton, due to injury late in the season, set the Comets back a few steps, but team morale and spirit of competitiveness remained high.

The Comets took only three wrestlers to state this year, but they all advanced to the Championship Finals and gained a fourth place finish for the Kelley squad as a whole. Both Keith and John Nix finished second in their respective divisions, while Robbie Winter claimed his first state title.

Although the Comet wrestlers were young this year, they gained a lot of valuable experience. Next year they will be a team on a Vision Quest; a quest to reclaim the state title for the Bishop Kelley Comets.

Girls Trot to 8th in State

If you, as a Kelley Comet, would travel to a high school track meet, you would spot spurts of red and white darting around the field. These, as you might have guessed, are the girls who have devoted their time to Bishop Kelley as track members.

These seventeen energetic girls gave their rivals a run for their money. After placing fifth in Regionals, the team qualified eighth for state. Although they did not place in the top three positions, Amy Bomer placed sixth in the mile, and Theresa Bierig placed fifth in the two-mile.

It is known to the entire state of Oklahoma, that Adrienne Gears would have defended her state title had she had the chance. Unfortunately, Adrienne suffered a hip injury and was unable to run. Her absence was felt immensely, especially in the mile relay and the hurdles.

Although the girls did not bring home any trophies, their dedication and hard work are greatly appreciated by the Kelley community . Track fans have enjoyed watching the girls.

Running Brave

This year the boys' track had a season of rebuilding with many underclassmen on the team. The team was led by seniors Paul Gomez, Tony Jannotta, Bob Muldoon, and Pat Paluso. This senior leadership enabled the team to gain their first trophy in Mr. Ballenger's six-year coaching tenure; second place at the Webster Invitational.

Although the Comets got off to a fast start, only frosh Chris James qualified for state.

With the loss of only four seniors, though, next year should be a much better season with most of the team returning. The underclassmen gained much knowledge and experience which will help the team next year, and keep them Running Brave.

CHARIOTS OF FIRE
GIRLS REPEAT AS CHAMPS

Another state championship was the ending to a perfect, undefeated season for the girls' cross-country team. On a team with no seniors there were three All-staters. Amy Bomer, Corinne McCarthy, and Jenny Nasser led the Harriers to their second consecutive state title while dominating the 4A class. Winning every meet, they were never really tested; and with all runners returning, chances for a third state title look promising.

The boys' cross-country team finished the season strong placing third in regionals and third in state. Much like the Olympians in Chariots of Fire, the boys used hard off-season practice and determination to have such a productive season after a disappointing season the year before. "We actually had a winning season despite what people said about us last year," says junior Colin Tumy, the team's strongest runner. Paced by the consistent running of Paul Gomez, Mike Back, Shawn Ryan, along with Tumy, the Harriers had a very respectable season.

The future of the boys' and girls' cross-country teams looks bright. With most runners returning to both teams, cross-country state titles are very realistic goals for both cross-country teams next season.

Headed Toward Victory

This year, the girls' soccer team had a rough season. They only had two wins, but their eight losses were by less than two points and almost all the losses occurred in shoot-outs. The Lady Comettes won against Hale and Claremore, the season-ending game. The team will lose six senior starters and Coach Ann Staurovsky. Coach has been responsible for the rise of the BK girls' soccer.

Although the Comettes will be losing seniors, the team has a lot of juniors and sophomores on whom to build strength. Next year these Comettes will be heading towards Victory!

How the West Was Won

The boys' soccer season was yet another highlight in Bishop Kelley sports. They had a victorious record of 6-4, with well-executed and hard-fought games.

A 3-1 win over Cascia showed that this year's team was destined for "Victory." Defeating Memorial was the high point of the season for many of this year's members. It was a tough game and the victory for the Comets settled an on-going rivalry. The end of the season was no different from the start. The boys held on to the momentum and defeated Claremore in the final game of the season, 5-0.

This year's star player was Lance Stephenson with 14 goals. First time players, seniors Jerry Snow and Alex Gandall, proved to be assets to the team. Senior Steve Kovzan was the strong man on the defense.

This year's team will lose only seven seniors while returning will be eleven experienced players. This will prove positive for next year. Another winning team is in the making.

BAD NEWS BEARS

Finish Season Strong; Surprise Many

The 1986 Bishop Kelley softballers played like the Bad News Bears this season. Despite being a very young team, they overcame early losses and played well at the end of the year to manage another winning season. Under first year head coach Karen Harris and assistant coach Gayle Land, the Comets placed second in the District tournament and finished the season with a record of 11-10. After a rocky start, the Comets played better in the second half of the season posting a tough victory over Owasso 9-7 before losing to District Champ Sand Springs 4-0.

Senior outfielder Melissa Hughes led the team in steals and RBI's, and batted over .400 while being selected to the All-District and the All-State teams. Solid pitching was provided by junior Rosemary Stallbaumer who pitched 19 to 21 games. "Overall as a team, we played our best games at the end. Melissa in particular, came through for us in hitting and Rosemary pitched best in the game against Sand Springs," remarked Coach Harris.

The team's infield, which consisted of senior Julie Foster, juniors Laura Scattergood, Katie Tomasi, and Karen Smith and sophomore Bernadette Sterne, improved with each game. With all but one starting infielder returning, it should be a strong infield again next year.

With only two seniors on this year's team the Comets finished respectably, and the younger players gained valuable experience that will help the team next season. The young team will have a number of returning juniors next year whose playing this season should make next season a promising one.

The Natural

The Comet baseball season opened with a bright start. The fine pitching and hitting abilities of Jim Wiley took the team to the Regional play-offs. Unfortunately, the Comets lost in the first game, ending the season with a 12-15 record.

Senior Bobby Harper stated, "We played much better than our record shows. We gave it our best shot." Bobby also said that the record would have been better had they not played so many 5A schools. He reported that the competition was tough.

Next season looks promising as only four seniors are leaving. Brad Jones, Denny Vilela, and Jason Reed will lead the Comet team to victory once again.

This year's volleyball team showed Bishop Kelley an outstanding season. Coach Williams, has spent three years training the girls. But this year he has some extra help, Peggy McCaw, former Oral Roberts University volleyball coach. She taught the team some different moves.

This team entered the State Tournament, 24-9. The team worked their way up to the top. The Junior Varsity went undefeated all season. Heads were held high as the year moved on. We can definitely say that these outstanding athletes worked hard for everything. The spirit and dedication remained visible throughout the year.

This year's Bishop Kelley Golf Team traveled to Duncan, Oklahoma in hopes of successfully defending their state title. The boys played hard, but placed second to the El Reno state champs. Coach Arenson has shown Bishop Kelley that the golf team can take state, as he did last year. In this year's state championship, Matt Gogel and junior John Gage placed fourth and seventh respectively. The golf team placed third in the Metro, Pryor, and Miami invitationals. At conference and regionals, the strokers managed yet two more third place finishes. Top honors went to Jud Doherty and Matt Gogel who placed in the top ten at each tourney. Since the team will only be losing one senior, the golf records should continue to soar.

Girls Take State

It was an up and down year for Kelley tennis this season. A state championship for the girls' team was the highlight of the year with the boys' team doing well also.

First-year coach, David Framel got a quick taste of success this season with a state championship. The girls held off their closest competitor, Ardmore, 10-9 to secure the second girls' tennis championship in three years. The Comets were led by Paige Hammond and Michelle Gwyn. Hammond easily won the number one singles title, as Gwyn breezed through the tournament to gain the number two singles title. The doubles team of Anne Trinca Fulton and Corinne McCarthy also contributed greatly by finishing fourth in number one doubles.

Coach Framel is excited about his team's chances for a repeat, stating, "We have a good chance because all the other teams are losing players; we are gaining players." Only Michelle Gwyn will be leaving the Comets, while the Comets pick up Paige Goins, who is ranked nationally, Heather Reece, and June Jamieson, a ranked doubles player.

The boys' team did not win a state championship, but they did finish with a satisfying season. The boys struggled throughout the year, but played well at the end, finishing third in region and qualifying for state. Once at state, the boys finished in a respectable twelfth place.

Footloose

This year's cheerleaders have done so much to raise spirit at school and keep the various sports teams fired up. To be able to do all of this, the cheerleaders attended the National Cheerleaders' Association Camp at Wichita State University over the summer.

The squad won three first place ribbons, including one for their "Kelley" cheer, and one second place ribbon. They also competed in the Award of Excellence competition which is an honor in itself because only the top four squads at camp compete.

This year, Kelley also saw the addition of male cheerleaders. These eight guys: Pete Galbraith, Alex Gandall, Mike McCoy, Bart Murphy, Steve Rauner, Jeff Roberts, Jerry Snow, and Todd Wilson added a new dimension to Kelley cheerleading — hopefully one that will continue and help Kelley cheerleaders keep the Comet spirit level high and FOOTLOOSE!

A Chorus Line

The pom pon squad provided quality entertainment during halftime at both basketball and football games this year. This squad was well-trained at the National Cheerleaders' Association Pom Pon Camp in Wichita, Kansas. The entire squad, comprised of twelve girls, went to the camp and participated in several competitions. In individual competitions, they won 23 superior (blue) ribbons and one excellent (red) ribbon. They won an excellent ribbon for their own Bishop Kelley routine and a superior ribbon for a squad routine. The spirit stick, creativity award, and sweepstakes trophy qualified them for the National Competiton in Anaheim, California. They were unable to attend because of lack of funds. Kristin Soli and Mary Illig were "Superstar" nominees; Kristin was a finalist. She performed at the Aloha Bowl in Hawaii. With all these honors and awards, Bishop Kelley's pom pon squad is definitely a superior "Chorus Line."

Before there are scripts, before actors are cast, the producers are contacted and the money is generated. This year we have been blessed with extremely generous producers who have made this yearbook "movie" a box-office smash. They gave us senior pictures in color, a first in Bishop Kelley history, and also, a much longer yearbook.

We could not have done it without the extremely dedicated "stage crew," who put much effort and time into our production to make it such a success. The camera crew was very helpful too. For without their help, our efforts would have been in vain. Then there is Mr. Frisbee, who successfully directed another Oscar winning "movie."

Because of the producers' belief in our Kelley community, they must now be accepted as part of our Kelley family and thus treated as part of the family. Because without them, there never would have been a "movie."
